■ Admission fee exemption and deferral of collection

This is a mechanism that allows students who have very difficulty paying the fee due to special circumstances to waive all or half of the admission fee or defer payment.

■ Tuition Exemption and Deferral of Collection

This is a system that exempts all or half of the tuition fee or defers the collection of tuition fees after selecting students who are recognized as having excellent academic performance due to financial reasons and who are recognized as having excellent academic performance.

■ Announcement of results (Admission fee, tuition fee, reduction, exemption, and deferral of collection)

The results will be mailed to the reply envelope submitted at the time of application in June ~ July for the first semester and November ~ December for the second semester.

*Undergraduate students may be later than above as soon as the results of the examination of the Japan Student Services Organization (JASSO) scholarship are finalized, and the results of tuition reduction and exemption will also be confirmed.

■ Payment of admission fees and tuition fees for applicants for reduction, exemption, and deferral of collection

- Those who have applied for a reduction or exemption of admission fees or a deferment of collection will not have their admission fees or tuition fees deducted until the results are finalized. Please be careful not to make any transfers.
- As a result of the selection, those who are not allowed or partially exempted will be transferred to the account (automatic debit) on the specified date after the results are determined (those who have not applied for direct debit) will be transferred to the university's designated account. Details will be enclosed in the result notification sent to you using a return envelope, so please check when you receive it.
